Per Karl's request -

St. Louis Post-Dispatch - Once a far-flung trading post where the rivers meet, St. Louis still rolling along at 250 - 2/8/14 - "He was going to establish a settlement that might eventually become one of the finest cities of America..." Such was the dream of Pierre Laclede, who notched a few trees where the Gateway Arch now stands. The marks became the place to build St. Louis. http://www.stltoday.com/news/local/metro/look-back/once-a-far-flung-trading-post-where-the-rivers-meet/article_ab9865e2-f718-550d-8429-dbe26124d789.html
